

Soviet Will Hold Hitler To Account

HITLER AND GANG MUST PAY PENALTY FOR ATROCITIES COMMITTED IN RUSSIA

SOVIET EMBASSY ISSUES BULLETIN

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6——Disclosed that the Soviet government is determined to hold Adolf Hitler, his Nazi cabinet ministers and the German army command responsible for the war atrocities committed in Russia was made today in an article published in the Soviet embassy information bulletin.

While asserting that the German nation must bear political and material responsibility for the war, the article said that Germany as a state cannot be held responsible for the atrocities.

HITLER RESPONSIBLE

"Responsibility for criminal actions committed in the name of the state, or on behalf of the state, rests on the actual perpetrators of these acts," the individuals actually vested with the authority of government, its representatives and agents," the article added.

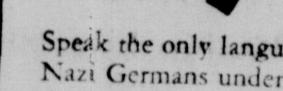

Thus the criminal responsibility of the members of the international Fascist criminal organizations may be defined as follows:

"Hitler and his cabinet ministers, the Fascist party leaders and the German army command, Hitler, Goering, Hess, Goebels, Himmler, Ribbentrop, Rosenberg and the rest, and Hitler's commissioners and representatives in the occupied areas."

The article also said that the German state must pay for its political and material responsibility for the war through disarmament and the institution of war damage.

What does man desire most? Well, lists the soldiers' desires in this order: women, liberty, ice cream, beer, clean clothes.

Speak German

Speak the only language the Nazi Germans understand—the language of shells and bullets! Turn in your used cooking fats for gunpowder. Even with rationing, you can save a tablespoon a day. Rush each canful to your butcher.

THREE POINT PLAN FOR FUTURE WORLD PEACE SEEN AS AIM OF HULL

The United States would pledge the use of its armed forces only to restrain actual aggression.

The American government would not under Hull's plan enter a military alliance with other powers that gave them a blank check on U. S. support.

If Great Britain or Russia, for instance, became involved in a dispute with another power, the United States would agree to aid them only if the third nation first resorted to outright military aggression to impose its will. If Britain or Russia should resort to force to impose their will, the United States would not be pledged to intervene on their behalf.

Hull also is said to be willing to promise American participation in such a security system only if a satisfactory understanding can be reached with Russia concerning the joint treatment to be accorded a defeated Germany as well as the policy to be pursued toward Europe generally.

Marine Women Are Kept Busy

HAVE NO TIME TO GET HOMESICK RECRUITER KAY VINCENE STATES

"One has no time for homesickness," says Sgt. Kay Vincene, of the Women Marines who is here in New Castle recruiting women for that branch of the service. "There are so many new interests after one has become a Marine that there is no time left for pining about the folks back home."

The recruits day is a long one, she explained, beginning at 6 a.m. and ending at 10 p.m. During this time, her day is filled with physical education, drilling, and classes on Marine history, military organization, weapons, map reading and other subjects valuable in making her well-rounded woman, able to carry on the duties of men at shore stations. After a few short training days, the girls are given two hundred dollars with which to purchase their smart uniforms. Before coming, however, their best camp days are over, lies a glorious adventure in their service of the famed Marine Corps.

The nation is proud of its Marines. Their fighting ability and the snap and precision they put into everything they do, has won everyone's respect, and now the nation is also proud of the women serving in the Marine Corps Women's Reserve. No greater contribution can be made than to serve in these honored ranks. Lawrence county girls are invited by Sgt. Vincene to investigate this branch of the service of their nation.

SMALL VESSEL LOST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6——(INS)—Loss of the small coast guard patrol vessel Wilcox and one crew member in a storm off the Atlantic coast was announced today by the navy.

The Wilcox formerly was a fishing vessel of about 100 tons. The navy said it floundered in a storm on Sept. 30.

In medieval times, by agreement, armies never engaged in active campaigns in wartime during the winter.

BURMA PREPARATIONS

REPORTS that American engineers are completing the first segment of a new Burma Road, ultimately to link with the old Burma Road as a highway to supply China, coincide with the surge of heavy reinforcements toward Asia. These are for the most part India-bound to give effect to Lord Mountbatten's plans to join his armies with those of the Chinese by taking Burma.

Evidently a full-scale campaign is to start soon in Burma. The difficulties of terrain there are many, but the Allies now have both sea and air superiority in that zone. The plan may be to send one army along the north Burma Road now under construction by Americans and seize Burma coast points by amphibious operations. That would drive the Japs out of the interior or cut them off from escape.

Most observers are confident that the Japs will be unable to withstand the forthcoming Burma drive and that the Allies will establish contact with China by Christmas.

Burma will probably be the first visual result of the decision to press the campaign against Japan concurrently with that against Germany. This will open land war against Japan in China. The design apparently is to reach China's Pacific ports while American air, naval and amphibious action drives into the China Sea, cutting the Japanese empire in two and cleaning it up piecemeal.

LABOR'S STAKE IN CAPITALISM

Labor and industry should stand shoulder to shoulder in working out mutual problems, rather than running to the government for help in the solution, says John B. Frey, president of the Metal Trades department of the A. F. of L.

Pointing out that the postwar period will bring a challenge such as the system of free enterprise has never faced, Frey warns that the greatest danger is that opposing groups will be too quick to call on the government to step into the breach. Regardless of differences between employers and employees, or any other groups in our modern society, these can be worked out under our existing system without making Statism supreme, he maintains.

"Make no mistake about it," Frey says. "We of labor are fully aware of our stake in the system of private ownership and operation. We are schooled against the artifices of the medicine men who thrive in such times as lie ahead."

Everyone interested in preserving the American way of life hopes Mr. Frey is right.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH

The other day King George went before Parliament with a request that his daughter, the Princess Elizabeth, be allowed to sit in on affairs of state. The Princess will be eighteen next year and the King thinks it is time that her education in statecraft begins, since she is in line to succeed him to the throne.

When she is eighteen, Elizabeth will be as old as Victoria was when she came to the throne. If Parliament makes her a Councilor, as it doubtless will, she will, in the King's words, "have every opportunity of gaining experience in the duties which would fall upon her in the event of her ascension to the throne."

In the case of his absence or illness the King may issue letters patent authorizing four councilors to act for him. They would have all the powers of the king except the right to dissolve Parliament.

So the education of a Princess is about to begin. And before Elizabeth comes to the end of the road which she is destined to travel, she may take the Empire through times as stirring as those in which the first Elizabeth or Victoria reigned.

NEW LIFE JACKET

Sailors in the Canadian navy, which had only sixteen ships before the war and now has more than 500, get a better chance for their lives if things go wrong with adoption of a new type of life jacket.

The new Canadian life jacket covers much more of the body than the conventional life belt and serves as protection against certain types of injury to the abdomen and lower part of the trunk, which have in the past been peculiarly liable to flesh injury from exploding bombs and shells aboard ship and iron concussion due to depth charges and torpedoes if the sailor is in the water.

The jacket also has gadgets to make rescue quicker and easier. In a pocket there is a yellow cap which the sailor can don. It carries a small, automatically, flashing electric lamp, which will guide rescue boats in the dark. It also has a six-foot length of rope with a snap hook that can be fastened to a line running around the life raft, permitting the sailor to float easily in the sea, instead of struggling aboard the tossing raft and perhaps being dumped back into the water.

Finally, it has several stout fabric loops which enable rescuers to grab hold and haul him aboard. The jacket is made of water-repellent fabric and filled with kapok.

POSTWAR STABILITY

Part of the great problem of restoring order to the world may have been solved by the agreement approved by the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China covering the functions of relief in liberated areas as soon as the military calls for civilian assistance.

The agreement is being submitted to the twenty-nine other members of the United Nations, to the ten associated nations and to the French Committee of National Liberation. It is expected to have their approval.

The agreement provides for a director general who will be in executive charge of the administration of relief, a council consisting of one member from each of the participating governments and a central committee of one member each from the United States, Britain, Russia and China.

Decisions will be reached by simple majority vote. If policy decisions of an emergency nature are necessary, the Big Four will make them, subject to later approval by the council.

This makes the relief of the war-torn world an international task. Under lend-lease America has been largely responsible. The burden of the United States will not be eased under the new machinery.

Four nations slid into anarchy after the last war. Many more will go that road following this one unless the victorious nations are ready with the means of stability. The new council is designed for that task

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

ACTIVE CHILDREN NEED GUIDANCE

Can you imagine a healthy child from two to six years of age lolling as an adult sometimes does? Even before the baby can creep or walk, his hands are almost constantly going. He certainly doesn't loll when some one is amusing him.

When the baby begins to creep he is more inclined to action, having so many more things he can do. Increased interest and motor control mean increased urge to action. Then see how active the youngster is after he is able to walk.

Some Control Necessary

During this development, he must also learn that there are some things he must not have; some places he must not go. His action must be hampered somewhat. Forbidding the tot to do a certain thing doesn't lessen his desire for action. All we do as we stop him doing one thing is to turn him to doing something else. We do not stop his inner engine running. We shift the gears. Even should we hold or tie him, then he doesn't loll.

Our main problem in guiding the young child is to set the stage so that when we forbid him any specific mode of action he will choose immediately another mode of action we approve. The more satisfaction he gains from this approved action the less, of course, he will want then and later to do what we disapprove, though we never can hope to need no forbidding at all.

Excitable Child

Moreover, the more satisfaction he gets from what he is allowed to do, instead of what he is forbidden the longer, as a rule, he will concentrate on the approved action. The child hearing No and Don't excessively will not continue long at any one interest. He inclines to turn rapidly from one thing to another getting more and more excited and annoyed all the time. You have seen tots spend hours at a stretch rushing from one thing to another like a bird flitting from bush to bush. Even some children of eight or ten do so.

This may not come entirely from ineffective control but from over-excitement and over-stimulation.

Such a child will profit especially from a regular day nap and abundant night sleep. He will profit too, from a quiet family atmosphere, silent radio, low soft voices and affection.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

HUSBANDS AND WIVES

Most women are a trusting lot.

Though spinsters possibly are not,

But those who marry, one and all,

For promises men make must fall.

When man a maiden fair would woo

He'll pledge far more than he can do.

In gold and lands and silken dress

To win from her that one word:

"Yes!"

Concluding with this line worn thin:

"The day, my dear, my ship comes in!"

Go shopping whereso'er you please,

Some clerk remarks: "My wife likes these!"

Which means, there is a woman who is trusting him, great deeds to do.

And has been lured to be his wife.

By promises of an ampler life;

By vows that winning ball he'll pitch;

Pledges some day he'll be rich.

For would a maid to wed consent

Unless she thought such vows were meant?

Well, there are millions of us males

Whose ship from harbor never sails,

Or, if it does, sets forth in vain

And never gets to port again.

But still, in spite of hopes delayed,

Of promises by failure frayed,

Of all the heartaches and the tears

And cares which crowd the flying years.

Most men, like me, are blest with wives

Who comfort, cheer and grace our lives.

This is an age of machines and tools. Everybody knows something about a few tools at least.

Tools can cause a lot of trouble in the home if they are not looked after properly.

Each tool should have a place of its own and be kept there.

Sharp tools should be kept where children cannot reach them.

Every year there are hundreds of injuries caused by children handling sharp tools.

Children like to cut paper. The scissors should have round ends so that there will be no danger of injuring their eyes.

When they are old enough, they should be taught how to use tools. When using a knife, the stroke should be away from the body.

When slicing bread, lay the loaf on the table and slice downward.

When using a saw be sure to have everything braced and held firmly.

Saws are dangerous. Be careful. A saw makes a bad wound.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:38. Sun rises tomorrow 7:01.

It will be harder to get all kinds of eatable tree nuts now. Some other kinds will still be pulling their stuff just the same.

Rats seem to be more numerous now than for some time. Wonder where they get things to eat?

Our idea of real human devils is Hitler and Mussolini.

If human nature were done away with it would leave us all in a fix.

No more nice people nor songs, no charity nor forgiveness, no love, sympathy and comradeships. Let's think of something else.

The soldier had just recently been stationed at a new camp but he had been there long enough to get acquainted with a girl to his liking.

The first evening he called for her at her home, her younger sister plied him with questions while he was waiting for her to put on the finishing touches.

"Did you know?" queried the youngster, "that Mary has three other beauties?"

"Why, no, I didn't," answered the soldier.

"Well, if you won't tell her I told you I didn't either but she gave me 35 cents to tell you."

Byes shopping whereso'er you please, some clerk remarks: "My wife likes these!"

Which means, there is a woman who is trusting him, great deeds to do.

And has been lured to be his wife.

By promises of an ampler life;

By vows that winning ball he'll pitch;

Pledges some day he'll be rich.

For would a maid to wed consent

Unless she thought such vows were meant?

Well, there are millions of us males

Whose ship from harbor never sails,

Or, if it does, sets forth in vain

And never gets to port again.

But still, in spite of hopes delayed,

Of promises by failure frayed,

Of all the heartaches and the tears

And cares which crowd the flying years.

Most men, like me, are blest with wives

Who comfort, cheer and grace our lives.

Giant Fortress Makes Flight Over Yankee Stadium

Consternation Is Caused At World Series Game Tuesday Afternoon

By ROBERT C. McCORMICK
(I. N. S. News Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The giant fortress roared down on the stands and all of a sudden you forgot the world series and remembered that there was a war on.

A moment before, you were calmly watching the New York Yankees win the first game of this series from St. Loo. Then the big fort swept down and the sound of it stayed with you for minutes. Down on the pitcher's mound Spud Chandler stopped midway for a pitch and almost dropped the ball.

"Was I scared?" He recalled later. "That plane didn't clear the flagpoles by more than ten feet."

Deep in the pressbox you only saw the shadow of it. The roar drowned out the radio broadcast and you wondered just what the boys on the other end thought. The boys who were listening to this game from their fox-holes in the Pacific, in Sicily, Italy.

You looked around and for the first time you saw a few service men in the stands. A minute later the fort came back. This time it roared even lower, and in the time it took to scream over the thousand feet of Yankee stadium you wondered what would happen if it were an enemy plane.

Sure, the army has rules against that sort of thing. Sure, it's against all civilian laws to fly so low over an open air gathering of people. And there were people there, 68,000 of them.

But you couldn't help wondering what that guy up there in the big fortress was up to. And, subconsciously at least, you sort of echoed the sentiments of the guy from Troy sitting next to you. The guy who said:

"Maybe he's getting ready to go across and just doesn't give a damn."

Temple Israel Special Services

Yom Kippur To Be Observed With Services On Friday And Saturday

Yom Kippur Jewish Day of Atonement, a day for self-examination, will be observed by Jewry on Saturday, October 9.

At Temple Israel, Rabbi Leo E. Turitz will conduct services Friday, Yom Kippur Eve, October 8, at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday at 9:30 a.m. A memorial service will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. Rabbi Turitz's sermon subjects will be Friday, "The Recurrent Refrain"; Saturday, "The Life That Counts".

Yom Kippur calls the Jew in judgment before the bar of his own conscience. The Day of Atonement is regarded as the most solemn day in the Jewish religious calendar with the central theme one of reparation for wrongs committed by the individual, and for the determination on his part to avoid sin wherever possible.

It is likely this year that thousands of Jews serving in the armed forces will hold services wherever they may be. Traditionally, the day is marked by special prayers and the abstention from food and drink from eventide to eventide. The purpose of the fast is to turn man's thoughts away from material things and to emphasize spiritual values.

Pacific Campaign Moves Are Planned

Wartime Conference Is Held By U. S. Fleet Commanders At Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Dramatic new blows against the Japanese by America's two Pacific fleets were anticipated today following the first wartime conference of the fleet commanders and the U. S. naval commander-in-chief.

"Plans for the Pacific campaign were discussed," said a terse communiqué from the headquarters of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, revealing that Nimitz, Admiral Ernest J. King and Admiral William F. Halsey met at Pearl Harbor last week.

The communiqué was issued on the return of King to Washington and Halsey to his South Pacific headquarters.

Observers hailed the meeting as an indication that Halsey's South Pacific forces may join with Nimitz' Central Pacific units in a coordinated action against the Japanese.

Conjecture of the probable target of new blows ranged from Rabaul, on New Britain, to the Marshall and Gilbert islands.

Belief that the conference presages a major naval offensive in the Pacific was bolstered by the fact the Pacific fleet is known to have been greatly strengthened in recent months.

Activity of the fleet also has been stepped up, notably by the daring raids on the Marcus and Gilbert islands.

Detective's Slayer Still Being Hunted

Small-Time Thug Wanted In Pittsburgh Case Still Eludes Capture

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Just as quickly as one batch of clues were tracked down and proved unreliable, Allegheny county police today were supplied with fresh "tips" from an anonymous public aid to aid in the capture of Matthew Hozer, small-time thug wanted for the murder of Detective Albert T. Lorch.

Detective Inspector Walter C. Monghan, directing the intensive search for the alleged killer of his life-long friend and colleague on the plainclothes squad, confessed he lacked any real clue as to the whereabouts of Hozer who has seemingly "disappeared into thin air" after enraging in a gun battle with Lorch and another officer last Friday night.

Squads of police roamed the city and visited northside haunts known to have been frequented by the former convict in an effort to snare him. District Attorney Russell Adams promised a quick trial for Hozer "after he is apprehended".

Lorch, a veteran of a quarter of a century on Pittsburgh's police force, was killed while attempting to arrest Hozer on a burglary charge. A Shaler township peace officer who accompanied Lorch, said Kozer fought off the detective, secured Lorch's gun in a scuffle and emptied it into the detective.

Say one thing for personal enemies. It is never their example that encourages a weakling to go to the dogs.

WOMAN FACING LIFE IN PRISON

Waynesburg Defendant Is Convicted Of Murder Of Her Husband

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 6—(INS)—A life behind prison bars stretched uninvitingly today before beautiful Nancy Jeannette Holt, 29-year-old curly-haired blonde who last night became the first woman ever to be convicted of first degree murder by a Greene county jury.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated for six hours before finding the curvaceous defendant guilty of methodically poisoning her husband, Jesse, a construction worker on the "Big Inch" pipeline.

Mrs. Holt was spared the electric chair by a recommendation made to Judge Charles W. Waychoff by the jurors that she meted out a life sentence. While she is not scheduled to be formally sentenced until next week, the jury's recommendation makes life term mandatory under Pennsylvania law.

The pale blonde blanched even more perceptibly when the verdict was returned, but failed to make a single outcry. The heavy silence following the return of the jury was broken only by the whimpering of a baby lying half-asleep in the arms of one of the spectators.

The former Oklahoma farm girl, whom the prosecution contended systematically poisoned her spouse by giving him small doses of arsenic over a period of several months, turned stolidly away from her parents who waited to comfort her and walked calmly with a matron back to her cell.

Holt died last May 27 after a lingering illness. An autopsy performed shortly after disclosed traces of poison in his stomach and Mrs. Holt was quickly indicted. State's Attorney James A. Isherwood charged she was brought to murder by her husband's philanderings in Waynesburg taverns with other women.

Pvt. John Mangine, former city fireman, who has been in the Camp Gruber, Okla., base hospital with knee trouble, has been transferred to the Springfield, Mo., General hospital for treatment. Fireman Walter Shook left Tuesday night to visit him, and also expects to attend the World series game in St. Louis.

Pvt. Helen Hayes, daughter of Mr. Ralph B. Hayes, 332 Shaw St., New Castle, who is stationed at the 2nd WAC Training Center, Dayton Beach, Florida, is recuperating from a minor operation. After Pvt. Hayes releases from the hospital, she will enter Cadre school for non-commissioned officers. Pvt. Hayes was the first twenty year old girl in New Castle to join the WAC.

Pvt. Homer E. Black of the Medical Corps, Fort McPherson, Atlanta, Ga., is spending a ten day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Black, this is the first time he has been home in a year.

A-C Jack Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Miller, Mercer street, who is in pre-flight school, San Antonio, Texas, has been made a supply sergeant.

Word from Moody Field, Georgia states that former Aviation Cadet Edwin F. Hewitt of 209 East Lincoln avenue, was recently graduated from the Army Air Forces Pilot school at that field, and commissioned a Second Lieutenant with the rating of Army Pilot.

Private Agnes M. Schaas, of 21 Smithfield street, according to word from Second WAC Training Center Daytona Beach, Florida, is receiving basic training at that center.

After five weeks study of military subjects she may be sent for advanced training in a specialist school or to duty at an Army post.

Private Schaas has three brothers serving in the armed forces: Sgt. John Grieve, Army Air Force; Cpl. George Grieve, U. S. Army; and P. F. C. Albert Grieve U. S. Army.

Cpl. Jack W. Steele has arrived home on a 15-day furlough from Camp Gordon, Ga. He is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Steele, of 1203 East Washington street.

Pvt. James D. White, of Fort McPherson, Fla., who has just concluded a five-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. White, of 510 N. Jefferson street, has gone to Fort George G. Meade, Md., where he will be stationed on special assignment.

Private Donald Harper, of the Engineers Corps, has returned to Camp Claiborne, La., after spending 5 days furlough, visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Harper, of Ravenna, Ohio, formerly of this city, and friends here.

Would Abandon Eight-Hour Day For War Victory

Senator Also Urges That Five-Day Week Also Be Abandoned For Duration

By ELLIOTT HAYES
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Sen. Homer Ferguson (R) Mich., called upon the country today to abandon the eight-hour day, five-day week and every other peace time luxury in order to win the war in a hurry.

"During a conflict in which the manpower situation is so critical and production so vital to victory, it seems to me everyone must do more than his share," Ferguson declared.

"We should work seven days a week if necessary. We should hold two jobs if that is necessary. We should do so voluntarily. I do not believe in compulsion. I do not believe that Americans require compulsory methods to make them do their utmost."

I think all will respond to the fullest if the needs that face us now are clearly pointed out to them and they are paid for their additional effort."

Ferguson suggested that many men could serve in spare time on relief shifts for fire and police departments, in city governments, and business establishments. Many women he believes, could work part-time in neighborhood stores, laundry agencies, and bakeries.

"I do not believe we have come anywhere near the end of our manpower resources," Ferguson said, speaking of the father draft. "What we face is a problem that we have tackled improperly from the beginning. Perhaps we would not have found the correct solution at first, but it would have developed."

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Albert Hoffman, of the Hoffman Beverage company family, was free today from his ex-wife actress and dancer Mitzie Mayfair.

Hoffman, 46, was granted a divorce from Miss Mayfair in Chancery Court yesterday after charging desertion. Hoffman now lives in East Orange, N. J., and Miss Mayfair lives in Hollywood.

Men In Army To Be Disappointed

Postmaster Hanna States That Mailing Of Yule Packages Below Expectations

ONLY EIGHT DAYS UNTIL DEADLINE

Many men now serving in the armed forces overseas will be disappointed at Christmas time. Postmaster William R. Hanna stated today, due to the fact that the folks back home are not mailing their Christmas packages on time.

In a communication received from the Postmaster General, it was revealed today that the volume of mail for overseas is less than half of what had been anticipated, and with the deadline only eight days off it means that many will not get packages on Christmas day.

Apparently the public has not been impressed with the necessity of mailing gift packages as far in advance of October 15 as possible for those in the Army, and on November 1 for those in the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines.

After these dates, the Postmaster General points out, there can be no assurance given that the gifts mailed will be received before Christmas. Arms, munitions and supplies take precedence over gifts in the allotment of shipping space.

It is admittedly difficult at this early date to realize that the period of Christmas mailing is here. But the fact must be impressed on the minds of the public, the Postmaster General warns, in order that brave men and women at the battlefronts may not be deprived on Christmas of the gifts from their loved ones at home.

Postmaster Hanna urges Lawrence county residents to take cognizance of the warning issued by the Postmaster General and to get their packages in during the week.

There are many ties for minor offices and how the winners are going to know in time to pay their filing fee is a question. All candidates nominated for a paying office must pay the filing fee if they have not paid it prior to the primary. Where a candidate on another party ticket he must pay the fee just the same or his name does not appear upon the ballot.

Rev. Herman Patton Resigns Pastorate

First Christian Church Pastor Accepts Call To Girard, O., Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 6.—After a most successful four-year pastorate at the First Christian church, Rev. Herman M. Patton has presented his resignation, to become effective November 1.

Rev. Patton has received and accepted a call to the First Christian church of Girard, O., and will begin his work there on the first Sunday of November.

He has been one of the most popular ministers of the city. He has served as secretary of the Ministerial association and has been president of the association for the past two years. At the present time he is also pastor of the Week-Day Religious Education association. Rev. Patton has also aided with the Boy Scout work of the community and taken a helpful part in other community activities.

Rev. Patton received his A.B. degree from Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va., and his B.D. degree from Yale Divinity School. Both Rev. and Mrs. Patton were originally from New Castle.

Before coming to Ellwood City he was pastor of the First church at Charleston, W. Va.

The most outstanding work accomplished at the local church has been the refinancing of the building program.

On Sunday, Oct. 31, he will preach his final sermon here, and early in November with Mrs. Patton and their three sons, Dwight, Bruce and Milton, will move to Girard. The church in Girard is comparable in size and membership with the local church.

Foreign Grain Supplies For U. S. May Be Secured

Lack Of Shipping Keeps Argentine And Canada Grain From Being Used

By ERWIN D. SIAS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—American farmers faced a drastic shortage of livestock feed today as a war food administration spokesman disclosed that five hundred million bushels of corn and wheat are available to the United States in Argentina and Canada.

This foreign grain—offered by the two governments through negotiations with the WFA—is ready to be shipped as soon as transportation facilities "open up," the official declared.

Unless shipping problems are ironed out, the U. S. feed supply, a pressing problem with dairy farmers and cattle feeders on the East and West coasts, will remain "exceptionally tight" this fall and winter, he declared.

It was intimated that WFA Administrator Marvin Jones and other officials consider the feed problem "one of the toughest nuts to crack, because overall food production of meat and dairy products depends upon the farmers' ability to get feed grains."

Meanwhile, however, corn is being burned in Argentina for fuel in industrial plants to use up tremendous surpluses for which there is no export channel, the spokesman declared.

As a result of the feed shortage the WFA is urging cattlemen to put lightweight animals on the market in a "quick feed-high finish" program which will cut by estimated millions of pounds the total yearly meat production.

Another thing that puzzles us is why a soldier must be physically perfect to operate a telephone exchange or a typewriter.

Postal Receipts Show Huge Gain

Receipts at the New Castle Post Office have shown a phenomenal increase during the first three quarters of 1943. Postmaster William R. Hanna stated today. The increase over the preceding year, the previous high, was $40,770. Mr. Hanna said.

This has been due to two big factors. One has been the mail to men in the armed forces, which takes a huge volume, and the other has been the large industrial increase.

Value Of Athletics Is Told Lions By Coach Bridenbaugh

Popular New Castle High Mentor Is Guest Speaker On Noon Luncheon

Tuesday

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh was the guest speaker of the Lions Club at its noon luncheon meeting Tuesday, when he told what high school athletics has done for the students of New Castle high school and for the city in general.

He told how football conditions have changed since he came here in 1922, when the games were played at Cascade Park and practice was held on stone-studded Boyles Field.

With the building of the Stadium, new emphasis was given the game, receipts were increased and more boys came out for the team. Then in 1929 lights were placed for night football, the first time the night game had been played by any high school in Pennsylvania and perhaps in the entire nation, and of how the receipts from a single game with Rayen high school paid for the entire cost of the installation.

Because of football, and other sports here, as many as 30 New Castle high school players have been in schools of higher education at one time, receiving educations their parents could not have afforded to have given them, on athletic scholarships. In addition, the city has received almost nation-wide notoriety.

The splendid cooperation of the boys in school, the school board, and athletic council has been responsible for the success he has enjoyed as coach here, Bridenbaugh stated.

Football has developed many boys who would otherwise not have had the courage to go on to success in later life, the game developing this trait above all others, Bridenbaugh said.

He decried the lack of an adequate gymnasium in the senior high school where the youths of the city could get better physical training and urged members of the club to lend their support to any movement which would bring better conditions.

Total bond sales during the Third War Loan campaign by the four Lions teams totalled $456,584.25, chairman Glenn McCracken announced. In the three bond drives, the Lions have sold $1,076,000 worth of bonds.

Chairman T. Fletcher announced that plans have been made for a party for the women to take place on Wednesday evening, October 20, at 6:20 o'clock, in The Castleton, and that week, they will join the other service clubs for a joint meeting in The Castleton, when Don Bate, traveler and lecturer will be heard.

Mr. Curtis McKee, Mrs. Harold Royle, Mrs. William Kerr and Mrs. Johnny Wilson spent a day at Pittsburgh. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Kerr donated blood.

Berdette Cotton of the Jameson hospital at New Castle spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cotton before going to Chicago, where she will have six months training in a hospital.

The members of the Faithful Workers class enjoyed a wiener roast and class party at the home of Betty Royle Thursday evening. The evening was spent in playing games and enjoying a social time.

Mell Brennenman and Milt Anderson of Leesburg were injured in a traffic mishap two miles south of Mercer. They were riding to work at Greenville in Anderson's car operated by Brennenman. They were struck by a truck and knocked against a pole at the side of the highway. Brennenman received cuts and bruises and Anderson suffered a dislocated shoulder. They were taken to Mercer hospital. Anderson stayed. The truck was operated by E. Lester Graves of Albion.

George Kildoo has moved into his new house here in town.

Capt. Loyd Darling visited his uncle, John Parquette and family recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stitt were guests of relatives in Greenville last week.

Mrs. Blanche Hadley spent Friday evening with relatives in Mahoningtown.

Mrs. and Mrs. Thomas Patterson were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Layton, of Eau Claire.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Powell were dinner guests of the latter's son, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller and family, of Grove City, Sunday.

Clarence Shields, of New Castle, is convalescing at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Charles Knox, following an appendectomy.

A number of relatives and friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Ella Dight Wolford Friday afternoon. Mrs. Wolford was a resident of this community before moving to New Castle and was a frequent visitor here.

Home after two and one-half years of active military service Technical Sergeant Mark Patterson, veteran of the local National Guard unit, has been given his honorable discharge and is now employed as a guard at the Cooper Bessemer plant at Grove City.

Bonham Flings For Yanks In Second Series Game

Chandler Quells Noisy Card Bats In Spotty Opener

Gordon Paddles Homer As 68,676 See Yanks Win, 4-2; Lanier Wild As Fiji; Both Teams Play Class B Ball; Southworth Undecided About Pitching Selection; Two-Run Spurt Settles Issue; Chandler Yields Seven Hits.

By LAWTON CARVER

International News Service Sports Editor

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 6.—Backed against the wall by the Yankees, whom they surprisingly whipped in the world series last year, the St. Louis Cardinals today knew they would face Big Ernie Bonham, the former lumberjack, but were uncertain themselves as to which of their pitchers they would be playing behind in the second game of the world series.

Having been beaten, 4 to 2, in the first game yesterday Manager Billy Southworth of the defending champions said he would start either Mort Cooper or Alpha Brazle.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees unhesitatingly picked Bonham to make it two in a row against any and all comers as a follow up to the triumph scored by Spurgeon "Spud" Chandler, the former Georgia footballer who yesterday won his first world series triumph in three starts dating back to 1941.

Gordon Homers

The Yankees beat Lefty Mariner with the aid of Chandler's seven hit and Joe Gordon's home run plus some ragged fielding and the breaks of the game, and figured that this time they would not be caught by a repetition of the debacle that overtook them last year, when they won the opener, then blew the world championship in.

In any case the Cards were pushed back again to a spot similar to the one they occupied at this time in the series last year when they dethroned the Yankees. They lost the first game then too, but went on from there to four straight and the world championship. However they came up with phenomenal pitching from virtual unknowns and are not expected to get hit by that lightning a second time. With Lanier whipped and uncertainty figuring in whatever Cooper may try to do, the picture is a dismal one for the Cards.

As dismal as the defeat they suffered yesterday, when they left the game slip away through mental and physical blunders.

Walker Cooper singled and ultimately scored in the second inning on a fluke double by Slats Marion off the glove of First Baseman Nick Ettens to put the Cards in front.

The Yanks took the lead in the fourth when Frankie Crosetti was safe on Lanier's drop of a throw to first, a stolen base, a single by Bill Johnson and Charley Keller's double play ball accounting for one run, which was followed by Gordon's homer.

Cards Tie Count

The Cards then tied that in the fifth on Ray Sanders' single, followed by a weird play which advanced him to second and put him in a position to go on. The play was the one in which Ettens carelessly threw the ball toward the pitcher's

Overseas Soldiers Hear Play-By-Play Account Of Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(INS)—The first air force sought the identity of the pilot of a giant B-17 flying fortress today who swooped low over Yankee Stadium yesterday during the first game of the world series.

Major F. H. La Guardia, who attended the game, was the first to register a complaint against the plane, which three times flew within a few feet of the top of the jammed stadium.

Low-level flying over areas of congested populations is basic for disciplinary action under army regulations, officials of the first air force said.

Short Wave Abandoned

Instead of short-wave broadcasts which were abandoned because of the uncertainty of overseas reception, the Signal Corps will file direct to key points by cable and wireless it was announced.

In addition to the spot news coverage which will go to several hundred overseas stations, the soldiers will be furnished with color stories, box scores and other material which they can read in the army newspaper, the Stars and Stripes, or in mimeographed form.

Franklin To Play Farrell Thursday, Washington Home

Patriots Travel To Mercer County While North Hillers Entertain Sharon

Triumphant in the season opener with Marion last week, Ben Franklin's Patriots seek V. No. 2 Thursday afternoon when they battle Farrell junior high on the Mercer county gridiron.

Coach Austie Cowmeadow's contingent has been hard hit with injuries. Tom Clavelli, right half-back, is finished for the season due to a fractured right leg. Johnny Palko, the speed boy, is sidelined by a banged up knee and Carl Zapin sustained a foot injury.

Gardner Improves

"Ducky" Gardner, hurt early in the season, is improving and may see action against the junior Steelers.

Franklin's lineup for the Farrell game:

Dean and Fomka ends; Williams and Shaw, tackles; Angelo and DeCola, guards; Adams, center; Smith and Gurnee, end; Guiney, halfbacks; Arthur Hill, fullback and Abraham quarterback.

On George Washington field, the Washington eleven entertains Sharon junior high.

Last week, Washington lost to Beaver Falls, 13-0 and hopes to reach the 50-50 mark by tumbling the Mercer counts.

The local lineup will include:

Wynn and Lautenslager ends; Crow and Marcotuli, tackles; Stewart and Bower, guards; Kech, center; Anderson, quarterback; Gurnee and Thomas, halfbacks; Samie, fullback.

Maybe Airplane Bothered Lanier

Soldier Sympathize With Southworth, Jr.

LOWELL, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Baseball-starved American troops are in a happier mood today after crowding around sputtering British radios yesterday to listen avidly to a broadcast of the New York Yankees' 4-2 victory over the Cardinals in the world series opener.

Curious Britons listened in, too, obviously mystified at the Yanks' reaction to the puzzling baseball jargon that poured out of the loudspeakers. Typical of British comment was that voiced by a London Cricket fan: "Sounds like a rough-house version of the old English game of rounders."

Fans at a midlands flying fortress station extended their sympathy to Capt. Billy Southworth, son of the Card's manager. A pilot and holder of the DFC, young Southworth predicted the Cards would finish off as they did last year when they routed the Yanks by winning four straight games after losing the opener.

Stapel May Play In Colgate Game

CHARLESTON, Pa., Oct. 6.—Charley Stapel, Penn State's freshman ace, may play in his first college football game Saturday when Colgate meets the Lions in 1943's Alumni Homecoming attraction here.

The Avalon, Pa., tailback, idle since he sustained a knee wrench four weeks ago, is highly regarded in the Nittany camp and is looked upon as a good bet for the varsity when he fully recovers from his injury.

Until he was forced to the sidelines, the yearling back was giving first stringers a battle for top billing and is expected to resume this pace when he returns to active combat this week.

Sports Ramblings

Batted out in between series basements:

Now that football has been canceled for the duration, Westminsterites are getting along with the nearest thing to the pigskin game—touch football. Army trainees, Navy cadets and college civilians touch it up every Saturday afternoon . . . Carmen "Rabbit" Nocera, ex-Mahoning junior high, Wabash Bears and Ne-Ca-Hi grid hand, is playing with one of the Great Lakes Naval station elevens.

Even ouija boards, like humans, dissent. Before the series started, Y-A-N-K-S. Fay Cowan, the Ellwood City scribbler, did likewise. "How many father-son New Castle high varsity footballers have been tutored by Phil Bridenbaugh? I can recall but one such combination—Bob Preston, Sr., backfield man in the 20's, and Bob Preston, Jr., current center?" Any others?

Ralph Byers, a former Ne-Ca-Hi athlete back in the 20's and now sports editor of the Ann Arbor News, was in town yesterday and stopped in for a chat. I quite naturally asked him about the coming Michigan-Notre Dame set Saturday. "Michigan's backfield and line seem to me a bit too strong for the Irish," the former localite said.

Short and snappy:—As good as Michigan is, probably its greatest player isn't on the squad. The footballer is George McAfee, ex-Chicago Bears sparkplug. He's ineligible cause he's a physical director.

Angelo Bertelli quite the collegiate field after filing against Navy on October 30 in Cleveland. . .

Del Monte's Flyers boast of some of the standout grididers in the land. Paul Christman, Parker Hall and Len Estmont are three of the more stellar performers. Herman Wedemeyer, St. Mary's (Cal) halfback, probably is the only Chinese playing collegiate ball this season. . . So what note:—Heinz Becker, Cubs' rookie first sacker was a fighter once . . . George Case, Senator speed king, pifflered three bases on closing day and so captured the major league stealing honors with 61 thefts. . . She was 28 years old.

Chiefs Finally Beat Columbus

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Oct. 6.—(INS)—In the final game of the series to be played in Syracuse, Lefty Arnold Carter pitched five-hits ball to snag a victory for himself and the Tribe. The next game will be played on the American Association club's home lot at Columbus on Thursday.

Fair or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor
YANKEE STADIUM, New York Oct. 6.—For 17 years I have been squeezing my carcass into all manner of press boxes scattered about this land of ours. For that period covering nearly two decades I have seen much that has been interesting and some things that were surprising. After so long a time you begin to think that you've seen it all—that there can't be anything new in sports for you.

But I was wrong. Brother, you should have been in New York during the last three days. There is a brand new disease out that causes seemingly rational people to tear at their wallet and go into a jumpy twitch that makes the speculators gather around and hope it never stops. This is called world seriesitis. It's an epidemic that has gripped New York and caused people to stampede over each other like frightened cattle.

All-Time Record

I brought an expected all-time record crowd of 70,000 to Yankee Stadium and gave assurances of record crowds for all three games to be played here. Some insisted that we will get away from this scourge when we reach St. Louis.

All I know is that there has been nothing like this before in my time.

People moan and slaver and cry in pursuit of world series tickets and newspapermen have lost friends of years' standing on this one because of an inability to purchase seats at any cost less than the price of a summer home in the hills with a fine view and riparian rights.

This is the first time in my career that I have been unable to buy any tickets for a sports event. To buy them mind you not to muzzle some free ones.

For three days and nights I made the rounds for a friend, made the rounds of all the sports hangouts and kept a telephone receiver to my ear trying to buy some seats. Finally my friend called upon a speculator when all else had failed.

Sure, the unidentified speculator would sell some tickets at $17 per seat, or $50 for a strip of one ticket for each of the three games here.

The price was $100 for two seats at each of the three games in poor locations or $120 for the same amount of tickets in slightly better locations.

Blame Ball Club

The New York baseball club is being blamed for this scandalous situation. I don't know who is to blame, but I do know that some of the bigger legitimate ticket agencies are without tickets and that it is necessary to go into the black market for those most valuable little slabs of cardboard that get you through the gates.

I also know that some bona fide sports writers who made application with the baseball writers for tickets well in advance were cut off the list because of a limited supply at the disposal of the press.

Illini Captain Quits Football

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 6.—(INS)—Football woes swept the Illinois campus today with the announcement that Sam Grider, No. 1 fullback and acting captain in the Purdue game, had quit the squad to return to his home in Georgetown, Ill., and will be lost for the Wisconsin game. Grider will be replaced by Theron Bradley.

NAME NELSONPENN CAPTAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—(INS)—

Villanova's Wildcats, who lost a 27-0 decision to Army two weeks ago, return to the gridiron Sunday when they face the Sampson Naval Training Station eleven at Shibe Park. Gene Konopka, guard, summarized the Wildcats' feeling: "after that Army game, we'll meet anybody but the Chicago Bears."

TRIO ALMA MATERS

Like Bill Smith, big end, tackle Bill Kyle played football at two other colleges before joining the Penn State squad as a Marine Corps trainee. Kyle formerly played at Notre Dame and Pitt. Smyth's pre-war alma maters were Notre Dame and the University of Cincinnati.

Naples Looting Was Widespread

German Vandalism Destroyed Many Non-Military Structures In City

ITALIAN PEOPLE BITTER AT NAZI

By RICHARD TREGASKIS

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NAPLES, Oct. 2.—(Delayed)—There have been many cases in this city—blasted and looted by the Germans as if the Italians had been enemies instead of friends—where Italian spontaneously battled the Nazis before the arrival of allied armies.

And, apparently, the feeling was mutual for in many of the suburbs, Italian snipers fired on Germans. Two reported instances tell how the Germans seized and executed hostages in reprisal.

Everywhere one goes in this city people speak with great bitterness of Nazi vandalism and tell how the Germans stole goods from many shops, commanded automobiles and trucks and even trafficked in graft, selling some of the articles they stole.

Italians say the word "tedeschi" (German) has become synonymous with the English word "boyceman" and is used to quiet noisy babies.

Demolished Non-Military Buildings

Among the principal grievances of Neapolitans is the fact that the Germans demolished many buildings which had no military importance such as 12 hotels, including the beautiful Grand hotel, the Excelsior, the Santa Lucia and the Beale. The Bank of Naples and several sections of the University of Naples also were laid waste.

Even a brewery and an umbrella factory were wrecked.

The Germans looted many shops, among them the Olivetta typewriter and sewing machine stores and various camera and radio shops.

Riding down the Via Foria and Via Roma—two of the principal shopping streets—today, I saw many shops with shelves stripped of goods.

The keeper of the hotel where we are staying—one of the three major hotels to survive German destruction—told us the Nazis took what they wanted from many shops, told the populace to help themselves to what was left, then photographed the Italian lootings.

Germans Took Everything

He said the Germans took everything which could lay hands on in this hotel, even bedsheet and towels, and would have burned the building had he not discovered a gasoline-soaked mattress they had set afire.

In some rooms of this hotel, the Touristica, the Germans had even gone so far in their vandalism as to break doors off cabinets.

The other two hotels which escaped major damage were Swiss-owned.

Angered by the German destructiveness, the people of Naples and vicinity burst into active revolt in several places.

The best authenticated case occurred five days ago in the Vomero district, where Italian snipers began firing from windows at the Germans. The Nazis tried to quell the outbreak by dispatching armored cars to the scene. That failing they seized 45 hostages who were later rescued.

On another occasion, at Capua, when a German was killed, the Nazis took 100 hostages and according to the story, killed all but one.

In still another reported instance, 15 hostages were said to have been killed at Giuliano.

New Deal Home Front Policies Are Opposed

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Dissatisfaction with New Deal policies on the home front may result in the election of a Republican President, if the Republicans nominate "the right man."

This belief was expressed today by U. S. Senator W. Lee O'Daniel (D) Texas, who told reporters that while a fourth nomination for President Roosevelt probably is inevitable, his election is not a certainty.

Among causes of domestic dissatisfaction, according to O'Daniel, are regimentation, labor racketeering, public squandering for non-war activities, executive domination of legislation and the judiciary, radicalism in the government and the appointment of congressional "lame ducks".
